Speech, Language & Communication Skills Newsletter Tips

Speech, language and communication skills are important for all children, not just those with identified needs. This fun activity will heighten your awareness of speaking & listening and in turn develop language skills that are so important to literacy & learning.

What would you do? Think up small problems that your child might encounter such as getting lost, losing money, finding a mobile phone etc. Ask your child what would they do? Why? Ask other people what would they do and why? Which one is the best? Why? All of this is good practice with reasoning skills which are really important for lessons such as science as well as learning social skills.

Sing together. Learn the words to a song together. For younger ones it can be nursery rhymes, but pop songs can also work well. Learning songs involves listening, taking turns as well as singing.

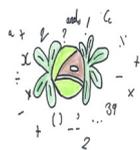

We were very excited to find the hare had joined us for the day. We found information about hares on the internet and then did some child initiated writing.

We named the hare Fluffy. We did a tally chart to decide his name and each of us had a vote. We talked about the least and most popular name.

This year's Summer Reading has begun!

The Summer Reading Challenge takes place over the summer holidays throughout the UK. Run by national charity The Reading Agency, and delivered with the support of the UK public library network, it is the UK's biggest free reading promotion for primary-aged children.

With the current situation, the 2020 challenge will run June to September, offering children and families the chance to take part online and receive rewards for their reading. While libraries remain closed, they will continue to support the Challenge through virtual services and e-lending platforms.

See http://www.worcestershire.gov.uk/info/20786/digital_library for our local services.

To take part, visit <https://summerreadingchallenge.org.uk/> and ask your child to join by setting up their own profile. Each time they finish a book, they add it to their profile and write a review. They are rewarded with activities and incentives along the way, such as online badges, games and videos.

In September, Mrs Merricks would love to see your certificates. Anyone who brings theirs in will be entered into a prize draw. The person who reads the most will also be awarded a prize. So, join now and get reading with The Silly Squad!
